Dear Tom,

I mentioned to you once before how disappointed I was that you couldn't accept our invitation to talk to Agency and Community personnel last year and that I would be back at you. Here I am!

I would really appreciate your considering coming out here for such a talk. All of us have a high regard for your insights into intelligence from your writings, and I, of course, from my respect for you personally. We would want to utilize your appearance here as an opportunity to stimulate people to think in broader terms and further into the future than they normally do. The precise topic would be fully up to you. All I want to do is expand horizons about where intelligence fits into our country's requirements, what we'll have to do to produce good intelligence over the next decade, and how the various elements of the Intelligence Community can best fit together. Any part of any of those problems which you would address would be a valuable contribution to us.

The format would be a total of one hour and 15 minutes to be divided between your talk and questions and answers. We will use our main auditorium and invite employees of the entire Community. There is a $500 honorarium. Our program usually runs on the second Tuesday of the month; I have 12 December in mind if that would be agreeable to you, but if that is not acceptable we can adjust to either December or January as might suit you.

I hope you can make it. In the meantime, all the best to you and Jean.

Dear Tom:

Several times a year we invite distinguished guest speakers to come to Langley and address members of the entire Intelligence Community. It would please us very much to have you serve as CIA Guest Speaker on Tuesday, 12 December 1978, at 3:00 p.m., in our Headquarters Auditorium. Given your broad background in foreign affairs, the range of possible topics is extensive, but one that occurs to us is "Intelligence and Peacemaking." This could encompass aspects of arms control as well as the role of intelligence in reducing conflict by enlarging understanding of events.

Your article in last summer's issue of Foreign Policy magazine is also suggestive of several interesting areas for discussion--the broad subject of the U.S. role today in foreign affairs and the narrower one you mention of conflicts between "security and equality." You might also choose to enlarge our view of the place of the private sector of the country in foreign affairs.

The purpose of the CIA Guest Speaker Program is to widen our horizons, and we can certainly count on you to do that. The program consists of a lecture of approximately 45 minutes, followed by a question period which we limit to 30 minutes. The Guest Speaker Honorarium is $500.

If 12 December is not convenient for you, we would be happy to discuss another date. Our program usually runs on the second Tuesday of the month, but we can easily adjust it to suit your schedule. I hope you can accept.

Yours,
